Oregon Afterschool Conference - Ideas That Make a Difference
Saturday November 6, 2010

Crossler Middle School
1155 Davis Rd, S. Salem 97306

SHELLEY LUCAS

OregonASK in partnership with Oregon Recreation and Parks Association is presenting a full day of training and opportunities to share ideas that make a difference for afterschool programs and professionals! Training will range a wide variety of topics appropriate for staff working directly with children and supervisors of programs too!

Shelley Lucas, MA - Keynote Presenter

All schools and afterschool programs must embrace diversity and teach students to be leaders not labels. We, as professionals, must model multicultural awareness, understanding, and sensitivity whether we work in a multicultural setting or not. Why? So that we can usher in new generations of socially competent American adolescents without the cultural baggage of old, and be ready to compete in the new global marketplace of the future!

As an educator of 16 years, an advocate for cultural competency in schools, and a professional development specialist, Shelley Lucas is committed to creating open discussion, faculty training, and curriculum implementation opportunities for schools across the nation.

More information about this great conference and our other dynamic speakers will be available at the end of August. We hope you can join us!
